NEWS AND VIEWS FROM EDMONTON

PITMAN IS NAMED GRIT CANDIDATE

Wainwright, Oct. 26. — Lieut.-Col. E. A. Pitman of Chauvin, commanding officer of the 19th Alberta Dragoons, was elected Liberal candidate for the Battle River federal riding at a nominating convention held here Tuesday night. Hon. Norman McLeod, minister of labor, was speaker at the meeting, which was attended by 200 persons.

Col. Pitman has been active in political circles here for some years and in the 1936 provincial elections contested the Wainwright seat as an independent.

Other speakers at the meeting were H. A. Dyke, Edmonton; Mrs. J. P. Ferguson, Trochu, president of the Alberta Women's Liberal association.

United Church Notes

Rev. E. Longmire, Minister
Ministers and lay delegates of the pastoral charges of Wainwright Presbyterian of the United Church gathered at the local church October 15th for their annual autumn sessions.

The morning session opened with a devotional service conducted by Rev. E. Longmire, chairman of the Presbytery, and an inspirational address by Rev. D. K. Allen of Tofield who gave a very fitting message on the subject of "Fellowship".

Following the roll call and reading of minutes by the Presbytery secretary, Rev. J. Bell, of Holden, reports of the Presbytery committees were heard and adopted, and various matters of the Presbytery discussed and dealt with.

Rev. D. K. Allen, of Tofield, reported for the Home Mission committee; Rev. R. Griffith, of Jarrow, for Social Service and Evangelism; Rev. G. E. Armstrong of Wainwright, for the Missionary and Maintenance; and Rev. Lester of Viking, for Religious Education. Rev. Dr. Powell attended as Supt. of Missions and as usual took a very helpful and active part in the deliberations of the Presbytery.

Anniversary services of our local United Church were held Sunday, October 16th, and Wednesday evening, Oct. 19th. On Sunday the local pastor was in charge and gave an appropriate anniversary message from the subject, "What Christ Taught with Regard to the Church". The choir gave a special number "O How He Loves" and Marian Longmire gave the solo "Open the Gates at the Temple".

On Wednesday evening the ladies of the church served their annual anniversary dinner and excelled in meeting the demands of one and all.

Following the dinner in the basement the people gathered in the church and enjoyed a program of music and were also privileged to hear an instructive and timely message by Rev. Thomas Powell, D.D., of Calgary. The subject of the lecture "Backward and Forward" was one in which the speaker dealt in a very interesting and thought provoking manner with the modern social question and problems.

The local pastor, Mr. Longmire, acted as chairman and those taking part in the musical program were: Solo, Miss Marjorie McFarland; duet, Marian Longmire and Annetta McMillan; solo, Mrs. Price Jones; the choir also contributed a special number "We Thank Thee, O Our Father".

Mr. A. Locke moved a vote of thanks to all who so faithfully and heartily contributed to the success of the anniversary services.

told her audience that newspapers had been told in advance by Hon. J. C. Bowen, lieutenant-governor, that he was going to reserve, assent on three bills last October. The truth was that newspapermen in the press gallery of the house did not know what was going on until the information leaked out of the Social Credit emergency caucus which was called when the legislature was adjourned suddenly that afternoon.

Obituary.

BASIL KIETH McBRIDE

The community was shocked to learn of the death of little Basil Kieth McBride, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Clive McBride, in the Viking hospital on Thursday, October 12.

The little lad was only ill for a very short time. He was taken to the hospital on Tuesday, operated on for appendicitis the next day, and died at 12 p.m. on Wednesday.

He was a bright, lovable child just over four years old and had endeared himself to all who knew him by his cheerful and happy disposition.

Interment was made in the Kinsella cemetery after a short service at the Kinsella United church, conducted by the pastor, the Rev. Mr. Griffith.

The church was filled with sympathizing friends and the casket was covered with beautiful flowers, almost too many to count. The little fellow was held. The floral tributes were from: Father, Mother and Sisters; Grandfather and Grandmother McBride and Merlin; Mr. and Mrs. Dave Henderson and family; Mr. and Mrs. R. MacPherson and family; Mr. and Mrs. J. MacPherson and family; Mr. and Mrs. O. Oshak and family; Mr. Allen.

The pall bearers were Gordon Lancaster, Alex. Squair, Kenneth and Robert McMurray.

The parents, grandparents and other relatives have the sympathy of the whole community.

He failed to mourn his loss, Mother and Father, two little sisters, Joy and Wanda; Mr. and Mrs. McBride, grandparents; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Green, grandparents; Merlin McBride, uncle; Mr. and Mrs. Everett Lancaster, uncle and aunt; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hinkle, uncle and aunt; Buster Green, uncle; Dorothy Green, aunt.

World of Wheat

By H. G. L. STRANGE
Director, "Crop Testing Plan"

"I don't believe this Thatcher will stand up. In a few years the rust will get it."

"Why do you think that?" I said to my friend John Skeptic.

"Well," he said, "Ceres was boosted to the skies to resist rust and you will remember that in a few years it had no more rust resistance than Marquis, so I guess Thatcher will go the same way."

"For my part, John," I said, "I think you're badly mistaken. In the first place Ceres was not bred as a rust resisting wheat, and it never had been tested by the plant breeders against rust. It simply had been found under mild rust epidemics that it had a little better resistance than Marquis."

"That's the other hand is an entirely different thing. It was bred by some of the ablest plant breeders in the world, specifically to resist wheat stem rust. It was tested in a most rigorous way for years in the Laboratories against all the forms of rust that are known, and on the farms it was not harmed by the very severe stem rust epidemics of 1935 and of this last year."

"Plant breeders all say they will be greatly surprised if Thatcher is ever damaged by the present forms of wheat stem rust."

A Few Extra Winks—

If you are loath to get up in the mornings, you would be wise to prepare for breakfast just as many things as possible the night before.

A Lesson From Europe

If the recent crisis in Europe has taught Canadians anything, they must surely have learned the value of unity, in which it is truly said, lies strength. The fate of Czechoslovakia in the past few weeks has demonstrated to the entire world the truth of the old adage, "United we stand; divided we fall."

There is no gainsaying the statement that had it not been for internal dissension between the elements comprising the population of Czechoslovakia, Hitler would have had no good ground for taking the steps which have resulted in the dismemberment of the 20-year-old central European democracy.

Including, as its boundaries do—or should we say, "did"—a number of racial minorities, Czechoslovakia would have been an unimpairable entity today had the views and aspirations of these minorities been welded into an homogeneous whole with those of the Czechs and Slovaks themselves.

Had it not been for the dissension within the Czechoslovakian borders the German chancellor would have had no reason for intervening that would have stood the test of world opinion, and likewise Chamberlain of Great Britain and Daladier of France would have had no reasonable excuse for according to Hitler's demands, nor would they have had the support of their constituents at home in so doing.

It would be as well for the people of Canada, aware though this country may seem from "outside" interference at the present time, to heed the lesson which may be learned from recent history as exemplified in the partitioning of Czechoslovakia, and to remember that a house divided against itself is destined to fall sooner or later.

Outstanding Difficulties

While there may be little reason to fear serious division in the country on racial lines, there is a danger of ideological differences becoming accentuated unless a spirit of tolerance permeates the views of the people in different sections of the country. The growth of political, economic and social cults and "isms" sometimes leads to serious divisions in viewpoint and may culminate in regrettable decisions and actions, unless the great majority refuse to be stampeded from an attitude of clear reasoning and patient sanity.

Apart from these differences in ideals and ideas of a political, economic or social character, Canada faces other difficulties which must be overcome if the foundations upon which this united people were built at the time of Confederation are to endure and this country is to take its place in the sun as a virile, powerful and happy national entity.

These difficulties, not necessarily insurmountable, were recently enumerated by Dean F. C. Cronkite of the University of Saskatchewan, addressing a school teachers' convention, in support of his contention that constitutional changes are needed if the unity of the country is to be preserved, as follows: The Maritime problem occasioned by dissatisfaction of the Maritime provinces with Confederation; the geographic problem due to the immense area and unfortunate geographic divisions; the difficulty of district regional economies typified by the agricultural west and industrial east; conflicting racial philosophies as seen, for example, in the neighboring provinces of Quebec and Ontario; and, finally, the financial ascendancy of Ontario, where the great bulk of the nation's wealth is at present concentrated.

Patience Is Needed

One has only to read this list of obstacles to perfect unity to realize the immensity of the problem which has to be solved if this youthful nation is to realize the vision and ambitions of the Fathers of Confederation. It can be achieved to the full but only by the exercise of courage, clear thinking and a determination to reach the goal by the safe and sane methods which experience has taught are the only assurance of ultimate success.

It is to be hoped that the Rowell Commission on Dominion-Provincial relations, when it reports its findings, will be able to point the way to a successful solution of these problems, and in the meantime a little patience must be exercised in anticipation that this hope will be realized before very long.

United States Cattle Quota

Canada Has Not Yet Supplied Full Amount This Year

The United States quota for Canadian cattle for 1938 will permit entry of 155,799 cattle of 700 pounds or more, 51,953 calves of less than 185 pounds in weight, and 20,000 dairy cows. To September 3, Canada had supplied 34,010 head or 21.8 per cent of the heavy cattle, 32,610 head or 62.8 per cent of the calves and 4,288 head or 21.4 per cent of the dairy cows. By August 28 of last year, the quotas of both the heavy cattle and the calves had been filled and that of dairy cows 20 per cent used up.

No newspaper reporters were present when the Wright brothers first flew, and when the story finally did reach the newspapers, very few people believed it.

Education And Workers

Persons Living In Prairie Provinces And Their Classification

Persons living in the prairie provinces with less than a high school education are found chiefly in agricultural pursuits and in semi-skilled and unskilled occupations, the Dominion bureau of statistics reported in a census bulletin.

Clerical and kindred workers and skilled artisans include a larger proportion of persons having attended school from nine to 12 years or, roughly, with a high school education. Those with 13 years or more of schooling, most with college education, are engaged largely in professional, commercial and clerical pursuits. Almost two-thirds of the males reported less than nine years' schooling. Only about two-fifths of females fell in the same class.

Had To Get Home

For five days Ralph Pastatis lay semi-conscious at the base of a 30-foot cliff from which he had fallen. Then the 58-year-old farmer recovered sufficiently from head injuries to crawl to a neighbor's home. Taken to hospital at Olympia, Wash., Pastatis declined to remain there, explaining he was away behind in his farm chores.

Make Good Citizens

The more one talks with Canadians who come from German or Italian stock, the more one is led to realize that while these people love the people and culture of the lands of their origin, and rightly so, they regard with abhorrence the political creeds which are now in ascendancy in Italy and Germany.

Equal In Last Analysis

But Girls Cut Their Teeth Earlier In Life Than Boys

Age for age, girls have more teeth missing, filled or decayed than boys, it was concluded in a report on a United States Public Health Service study.

This is not simply because they are girls, according to Dr. Henry Klein and Dr. Carroll E. Palmer, who made the study, but rather because a girl's teeth are cut earlier in life than a boy's and have, therefore, been exposed longer at the same age to wear, tear and germs. In the last analysis, however, the girls show no greater susceptibility to dental decay than boys.

Continuing their dental studies with students attending the municipal elementary schools of the small urban community of Hagerstown, Md., the doctors gathered the present data from examinations of 2,232 boys and 2,184 girls.

SHE WAS A VICTIM OF HEADACHES

Kruschen Got at the Cause

This woman's headaches were of the gripping kind that reduce the sufferer to something like helplessness. She tried tablets. She tried pills. All without avail. Only Kruschen could help her.

"I used to go very bad headaches," she writes. "No tablets or pills of any kind could relieve them. One morning, casually, I tried Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water. I continued taking it, but I have not had one of those awful headaches since. Kruschen suits me better than anything else. I find it very good."

(Mrs.) L.A.W. Headaches can nearly always be traced to sluggishness of the kidneys, liver and intestines, and to the unexpended retention in the system of stagnating waste material which poisons the blood. The numerous salts in Kruschen stimulate the internal organs to healthy, regular action so that no clogging waste is allowed to collect. Your inside is kept clean and serene. And that is just how Kruschen Salts brings quick and lasting relief from headaches.

To Restore Eyesight

People Are Urged To Will Their Eyes To Science

Persons were urged to will their eyes to science in order to restore the eyesight of other individuals.

Dr. Ramon Castroviejo, of New York City, author of the proposal, said the eye surgeons frequently can bring back the sight of persons who have suffered injuries to the cornea, or front covering of the eye.

In many cases, however, the tiny pieces of cornea necessary for grafting a new window into the eye are not available for replacement.

These tissues can be obtained from the eyes of stillborn infants or from corpses if the operation is done soon after death, Dr. Castroviejo said. The latter source is the more reliable, he added.

It is possible to preserve the eyes in usable condition for several days, he explained. Thus it would be possible to keep a supply on hand in the hospital refrigerator and to co-ordinate the number of operations with that supply.

Easy To Tell What President And Dr. Dafeo Talked About

Dr. Dafeo went to Washington to visit the White House. Although Dafeo had been allotted a five-minute visit he was cloistered with the President for almost half an hour. When he emerged, his publicist tried to ascertain the substance of their conversation, to deliver it to the press for exploitation. Dafeo refused, insisting that it was extremely confidential. After lengthy pleas, the distraught press agent shrieked: "Can't you tell me a word about it?" "One word? Yes," replied Dafeo. "Babies."

Canada's First Moslem Church

Modest Structure Of Brick Veneer To Be Built In Edmonton

The first Moslem church in Canada will be at Edmonton. The building permit says the owners will be the Canadian Moslem Association there. It will be a modest one-storey 30x50 structure of brick veneer on 10th avenue. It will be striking to find if the congregation are all Arabs for the Moslems cover a diverse number of nationalities. Of course, even in Great Britain, there have been substantial conversions to Islam and they have their mosques, so that it is surprising Canada has not before this had some churches of that faith. Already, there are 30 differing creeds in Canada and too many perhaps in serious competition. The census says there are two thousand professing Mohammedanism in this Dominion. But Islam, founded by the prophet Mahomet about 600 A.D. at Mecca, has a world membership of 200,000,000, which is about 3,000,000 greater than that of Christian Protestantism and 125,000 less than Roman Catholicism—Brandon Sun.

Earnings Of Blind Youth Sometimes Reach $3.00 A Day

Weldon Beach, 24 years old, has not let blindness prevent him from becoming an expert placer miner. The blind youth, since going to the Black Hills, near Mystic, South Dakota, with his parents in 1934, has constructed a huge water wheel, sluice boxes, laid several hundred feet of railroad track for his small ore car and tunneled into the hillside not far from his home. He doesn't need to see the flakes of gold when they are in rille and pan. He can tell by the weight of the mineral and its sound when scratched with tin or rock. His earnings total from 50 cents to as high as $3 a day.

The Utah Salt Flats

Extend For 200 Miles And Surface Is Very Hard

The salt flats near Salt Lake City, where John Cobb set up a new world's land speed record only to lose it a day later to Capt. Byron, form a vast amphitheatre 200 miles in extent. The surface is so hard that wooden stakes have to be ironed before they can be driven into it. The salt is, however, quickly cut into furrows by heavy cars travelling at high speed and has to be levelled by scrapers as soon as the car has passed. Mr. Cobb is a fur broker in London. Speed driving is his hobby.

Make Good Living

Progress Made By Denmark Farmers In Last 150 Years

In 1788, states the Montreal Gazette, the peasants of Denmark won their freedom from the old system of villeinage under which they were little better than workers for the great land-owners. This year the farmers and all other citizens are celebrating the 150 years of liberty and discussing with justifiable pride the progress that has been made in the century and a half. After the breaking-up of the estates the land was divided into farms, small as compared with the farms of North America but astonishingly productive and self-supporting for the families that work them.

Agriculture is the primary activity and Danish products find favor in the British and Continental markets. Exports of butter, eggs and high-grade bacon bring much wealth to the Danes on the land and there is a constant effort to retain the foreign markets.

The average farm is 15 acres and the farmer, his wife and children do all the work. With a half dozen or more cows, a couple of score of pigs, a horse or two and many hens, the family makes a fair living on the land, which also provides most of the food for the animals.

This is intensive and intelligent farming, to which the government lends every encouragement in the way of loans, which also are managed intelligently. There is no fixed interest rate for these farm loans, the practice being to charge a fair rate when crops are good and a low rate when they are not so profitable.

Through the co-operative societies, which have reached a high state of efficiency in Denmark, marketing of products at home and abroad is a comparatively easy matter. The farmer also buys many of his supplies through these co-operatives and is quite satisfied with his returns.

There being no coal in the country, dependence is on agriculture rather than on manufacturing and other industries. The government, accordingly, concerns itself chiefly with bringing about farm improvements and with reclaiming marsh and wooded land. As for the beech and other forests, when a tree is cut another is planted, with a view of maintaining the wood wealth.

The 200,000 odd farmers in the population of 3,500,000 or thereabouts seem to be doing well with the liberty to work for themselves that was won in 1788.

CHAPTER V.—Continued

"Once we find that old river bed—" he said. "But where will you find it?"

"That's the problem. There's nothing to indicate where it might be. We're sure it's there, somewhere. But that's all we know."

"Then it's like looking for the proverbial needle."

"Just about," Jack agreed. "We'll just have to keep on putting down test holes; one of them may turn out."

"Isn't that rather silly?"

Hammond shrugged his shoulders. "All we can do is follow Joe's hunches—as to where he thinks that river should have run. Of course, other persons might go to it scientifically."

"And find what they were looking for."

"Perhaps."

"Then why don't you?"

"You don't know Joe's breed. They distrust scientists. Any old prospector will tell you that an engineer or geologist can ruin the finest mine ever discovered. Oh, they're funny!"

Kay tossed her head. "I can't see anything funny about it. Why should you give up everything in life just because your partner is—that do you call it—bushed?"

"But he's my partner, Kay! We've fought the North together."

"That's carrying chivalry too far. You'd both be better off with scientific help."

"Of course we would, Kay. But I couldn't sell Joe that idea in a month of new moons. And he'd rave if he found out that I went after advice myself. Besides, where would I go—where I knew I could be safe?"

She looked up. "You haven't thought of Bruce Kenning."

Hammond's eyes widened. "No, I hadn't."

"My father trusted him for years and wasn't sorry. He did all that work down in Peru and Bolivia. She added bitterly: "We wouldn't be penniless now if he had listened to Bruce." Again there was silence. At last Kay clenched her hands and walked to the ledge. Slowly Kay followed, entranced by the picture of her in the moonlight. "If wish I could talk to that partner of yours."

"You'll change your mind when you meet him. Might as well argue with a tree stump."

"But why bother with him?"

"Kay! He's my partner."

"Oh, I didn't mean that. Why not seek your advice and know where you're going, instead of staggering around blindly. Doesn't it amount to just that?"

"In a way."

"Arcana guidance would help both of you. A geologist could figure where that river ran a thousand years ago."

Hammond spoke slowly. "Maybe that's an idea, Kay."

"And you can trust Bruce to the limit. Father did. As for the fee, I'll see that he doesn't charge you anything until after everything is over." She laughed. "He'd know better. I'd slay him if he put in a bill."

"McKenzie Joe would have to stay in the dark. He'd kick over the traces."

"Why tell him anything? Look here, you're digging now at random, aren't you?"

"Just about."

"Then couldn't you just accidentally dig where Bruce told you to look?"

"That's an idea too!"

"Then why don't you? You owe it to yourself. And Joe too. He'd benefit as much as you."

He could think of little except that she was close to him, vibrantly warm, that her hair brushed his cheek, that a soft hand stroked his throat.

"I'll have to be terribly quiet about it," he said at last. "Maybe it'd be better if you'd sort of pave the way to Kenning. Don't tell him too much—just enough so that he'll know what I'm talking about when I see him."

"I will, dear," said Kay joyously. "For a deliciously long time, she remained close to him. Then she slowly drew away, at last to become solitary, somehow lonely, as she looked out over the valley."

"Jack," came after a long time. "I've a disappointment." Then with jerky abruptness, "We can't be married."

"But Kay, that's impossible!"

"Please don't ask me a lot of silly questions about not loving you, the girl said crisply. "I can't stand it."

"What are you trying to say?"

"Nothing—of consequence. I'm just terribly unhappy, Jack."

"But why? You say you're crazy about me. You know I worship you. What's come over you, Kay?"

"That night in Seattle—" he begged. "Can't you understand? Mother and I are broke, positively flat broke!"

"I know that. Timmy had a loose tongue last night."

"Father left hardly enough for the funeral, the girl went on bitterly. "He even dragged poor Bruce down in the wreck; almost ruined him. Bruce has been a saint. He's kept Mother and me alive. But just the same, the fact remains we're broke, flat broke, penniless!"

"Well, what of it?" Jack demanded impatiently. "I've got money."

She whirled, facing him. "And am I to go through life, calling myself a gold digger?"

"But you're not. That's absolutely silly."

"Is it?" she asked. "I was the moody banker's daughter. I wouldn't have anything to do with you. Then suddenly, I haven't any money and you've got a lot. So I marry you. What's the answer to that?"

"The answer is that I'll marry you any time you say."

"That's the wrong answer. We're both hot and crazy. Just the touch of your hand makes me want to drag you away into some Eskimo igloo and never come out. But that will have to pass. If we are to be happy, we'll have to go through a lot; quarrel, adjust ourselves to each other. Suppose it doesn't work out?"

"Why won't it?"

"Suppose you get the idea that I was desperate and grabbed you because you had money?"

"You know I'd never do that."

"That's what they all say, Jack. That's why we've got to wait."

He caught her eagerly, tight to him.

"Then this isn't a turn-down?"

"Of course not, silly," she answered.

ed, in a smothered voice. "We've simply got to wait, that's all."

"How long?"

"Her lips were close to his. "Until I make some money out of that placer. Oh, it's a subterfuge, I know. But at least I'll bring you something besides myself—something I've earned."

"But you can't work that claim with your own hands."

"You said you'd get me some men."

"That takes money."

"I've got a little. A few hundred dollars. That will be enough. Bruce gives Mother a little to live on—because of Father."

"But suppose you don't hit it?"

She raised her head, chin high in the moonlight.

"I've got to hit it. I can't have you until I do. It will be my dowry."

Jack Hammond went down the hill that night with the feeling of having kissed the lips of nobility. A modest man, it had been inevitable that he should have faced moments of doubt—all that now was dispelled. A few nights later, as McKenzie Joe scraped the sandy mud off his boots and prepared to start for Joanne's store and a new tin of tobacco, Jack Hammond came out of the semi-darkness of the cabin and leaned against the doorway.

"Listen, Jon," he began. "I've been thinking about something."

"Yeh?" The old prospector tossed aside the mud-smeared stick and stood waiting.

"We've been looking for that old river bed in pretty haphazard fashion."

"Have we?" asked Joe. "Well, haven't we? We dig a hole here and a hole there—just stabbing blind, in the dark. I've been thinking that we ought to map out a campaign. Suppose we swing away over to the right, almost to the end of our holdings on that Number 5 lease, and start putting down a series of test pits. Then, if those don't work out, we can start slowly across the valley."

The coldly appraising look in McKenzie Joe's eyes halted him.

"What crooked mining shark has been telling you the wrong place to dig?" he asked blufly, and walked on toward Joanne Towner's cabin.

CHAPTER VI.

All in less than two weeks, the little settlement of Sapphire Lake had become a village—and was robustly looking forward to the day when it would be a town. Timmy Moon's airplane had caused it.

Not that he any longer held the monopoly. Two days after his first trip into Wrangell, another gypsy had flown in from the Alaskan coast and begun a canvass of the town for business. Then a third had found his way up from Vancouver.

For days Tommy Moon had been chartered by Around the World Airline, fewest for artissians, woodworkers, glaziers and their supplies. Olsson's discovery of gold had done great things for the morale of the camp. Other placer miners, who had been content with mere panning, now were building rockers, or going in for changed sluicing operations.

The whole psychology of the camp had changed, while hardware and furnishing stores in Wrangell sold their supplies and the hurrying airplanes roared onward to Juneau and Sitka, there to load up from new sources and rush back to the mining camp.

"Yeh," said McKenzie Joe, as he watched a ship drop to the lake and taxi to a landing, "everybody's in a hurry. They could go for months without glass in their windows—but now they've got to have it by the next plane. That's the trouble with a new gold digger. Nobody wants to let it stay the way you found it."

Then suddenly he asked Hammond, "You going to work with me today on that upper shaft, or are you still sticking to Leon Creek?"

Bought For Small Sum

But Collection Of Seashells Is Now Valued At $10,000

The Miramichi Natural History Museum at Chatham, N.B., boasts one of the most valuable collections of seashells on the continent. They are valued at $10,000 but were bought for $1.75 at an auction.

The purchase was made in New York years ago by Thomas Wilson, Chatham, during the sale of unclaimed contents. The bid was raised to $1.50. Wilson, playing a hunch, offered $1.75 and there was no further competition.

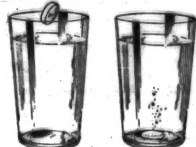

"If I live until I die—and I don't know whether I will," said the Irish woman, "I'm going to see America before I leave Ireland."

TRUE STORY PICTURES

That Everyone Who Takes
"Aspirin" Should Study

Drop an "Aspirin" Tablet in water—it starts to disintegrate in 2 seconds—hence it is ready to "go to work" rapidly.

This Quick Dissolving Property of "Aspirin" Tablets Explains Fast Relief

If you suffer with headaches or the pains of rheumatism or neuritis, keep the above picture about "Aspirin" in your mind. Especially if quick relief is what you want.

For the way an "Aspirin" Tablet works in the glass is the way it works when you take it. It starts to dissolve almost at once—hence is ready to "take hold" of the rheumatic pain or headache with astonishing speed. Relief often comes in a few minutes.

Demand and Get

"ASPIRIN"

Turner Valley Oil

Now Greater In Empire Importance

Since Oil Field Seizure in Mexico

Canada's oil fields at Turner Valley, Alberta, had developed greater Empire importance in view of the expropriation of British oil companies' property by the Mexican government, Viscount Chaplin told reporters before he sailed for England in the liner Empress of Britain.

"That trouble in Mexico has brought Canada's western oil into a much more prominent place, both from a Canadian and Empire point of view," the visiting British peer said. "It is a young concern yet but will go a long way."

Viscount Chaplin himself interested financially in the western oil fields, believed development should be extended northward beyond Calgary. An oil pipe line from Turner Valley to Vancouver, to be built by the British government, was "definitely in the future," Lord Chaplin thought, adding demand at present did not call for such a line.

Demolition Too Fast

Aberdeen's Slum-Clearance Program Is Giving Them Trouble

Hundreds of dreary families on the outskirts of Aberdeen, Scotland, are wondering when civic authorities will take them out of their caravans and put them back in houses.

Their trouble—and Aberdeen's—started when the civic authority decided on a slum-clearance program, demolished large blocks of tenements and started to build new ones.

The reconstruction, however, did not keep pace with the demolition, and the displaced families moved into "temporary" settlements of wheeled shacks. Some of them have been in caravans for more than three years.

Settles Everything

At long last, the answer has been found for all the troubles of the world, including the European crisis, airplane accidents and the untimely death of many celebrities. Sunspots are to blame, says an astrologer, thus settling everything.

Do This If You're NERVOUS

Don't take chances on harmful spices and products which you know nothing about. Use common sense. For over 60 years this woman has told another how to go "calm" the "fish" with FISHBANK'S Compound—let it help you.

Made First Parachute Leap

English Aeronaut Jumped From Balloon At Height Of 9,000 Feet

One hundred years ago an English aeronaut named Hampden made what was the first real parachute jump in history. Ascending in his balloon at Cheltenham, he jumped from a height of 9,000 feet and landed gently thirteen minutes later.

The first mention of a parachute device was in 1785, when a Frenchman named Francois Blanchard descended from a balloon. The records are somewhat obscure and it is not known whether the parachute was of his own invention or that of another Frenchman named Etienne Montgolfier. There is little record of parachute leaps, however, until Hampden's adventure, which caused a great sensation. For a long time parachute jumps were mere "stunts" and indeed as these devices are made more efficient and science helps the leapers with oxygen apparatus, plus the daring of those who, either for the thrill of the thing or for money, they are still "stunts" at fairs and exhibitions.

The World War not only gave a great impetus to aviation but brought out the value of the parachute as a means of saving lives. The men who went up in observation balloons which were anchored to the ground while observers took stock of the enemy positions and sent signals below, had parachutes strapped to their backs. The balloons were frequently set on fire or so damaged that they began to collapse. On these occasions the observers "baled out," and records show that out of about 600 parachute leaps there were only three fatalities. These may have been due to the same cause that cost the life of Basil Hallam, Jean Valot of London and Florence of Elise Janis, who, forgetting that he was wearing an older type parachute that did not act like a chair in which to float down, slipped through the harness and crashed to the ground.

Toward the end of the war parachutes were supplied to the men in airplanes and another 200 lives were saved in that way. Today parachutes are part of the equipment of all planes and thousands of lives have been saved by them.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Just What It Suggests

Word Flash Is Used To Introduce News Of Importance

I find among newspapermen and particularly press association men, says Westbrough Pegler in the New York World Telegram, a sense of resentment against the misuse of the word "Flash" by radio commentators, advertising copy writers and the journalistic ignoranti who have never covered a story or filed a wire.

A flash is just what the word itself suggests. It seldom contains more than half a dozen words and is used to emphasize some happening of vast importance. It is followed by a terse statement of the news, called a bulletin.

Flash is the highest rating in news value. Bulletins come next. Then come stories in the natural order of their importance as news or entertainment. On a news wire a story must always give way for a bulletin. Any point along the system may break in on any story or bulletin at any time to send a flash, such as "Flash! Chicago. Earthquake."

There is no such thing as an "Add Flash!" and any "bureau manager" who keeps a press association system who had the gall to break in with a flash as cheap as some of the announcements which nowadays are handed as flashes on radio programs would be set back on his heels.

A Real Menace

Foul Air Like Impure Water Causes Many Diseases

The day is near when we will be told that the breathing of unconditioned air is as dangerous to health as the drinking of unfiltered, untreated water. Men had to learn to wash their bodies and to live in clean houses and wear clean clothes. The bubonic plague and cholera that used to sweep Europe were the consequence of filth. More recently typhoid fever killed tens of thousands until we learned about pure water.

Foul air, too, so it is said, slays millions. The infections from bad air include tuberculosis, bronchitis, pneumonia, influenza, and the common cold. Other such infections are asthma and hay fever. Clean air of the proper temperature and humidity may reduce the prevalence of these diseases until they are almost unknown.—Parade.

When horses come in to stable with virus or saddle boils, or even have colds, the thing to do is get the Minard's Stable, as Mr. David of Glasgow, Scotland, has been writing.

"I like your Minard's Stable. I have it in the home. I have used your Minard's Stable and it has been of great help. I have used it on horses and it has been of great help."

A family doctor presented Minard's Stable to a patient with a cold and it was of great help. It is a family doctor and it is of great help to every stable and every horse.

THIS WONDERFUL ALBERTA

(From the Viking News)

Is it spring, or has the sunny warm weather of the past month even fooled the flowers that usually bloom in the spring trails. In the mails today for this office we received from Ken Swift, a pupil at Clover Lodge school, an honest-to-goodness crocus which he found blooming on the prairie on October 26th. Crocuses are usually found blooming early in the spring and there is no record heretofore to show that they also come out in October to say farewell to summer. Or is it another sample of what Alberta can do under favorable weather conditions? Can you beat it?
